

Grant Writing Workshop

Want to learn more about how to prepare effective grant proposals? It's all in the reading of the requests as well as in the writing! Join the Black Belt Community Foundation and learn the basics that apply to any application, no matter how small or how large. Bring an idea of a project you would like to develop OR an application for which you are considering applying. In the three hour session we will focus on the BBCF application and the Alabama State Council on the Arts applications, but the information applies to almost any request. This will be a practical, hands-on session, so come ready to work. Martha Lockett, Executive Director of ArsRevive, and BBCF board member will be the facilitator.

Martha Beasley Lockett is the Executive Director of ArtsRevive in Selma, Alabama. ArtsRevive exists to enhance community development in the Selma-Dallas County area.

Since coming to ArtsRevive in October 2012, she has led the organization in a strategic planning process, brought Urban Studio to Selma, secured over $ 300,000 in grants and led a Facilities Design process to secure complete architectural plans for completion of the Carneal Building. ArtsRevive just secured funding to purchase three empty buildings and an empty lot in downtown Selma for further revitalization efforts. She has extensive experience in designing and building successful projects in a wide variety of areas
